eBankSystems signs First National Bank Colorado City.

Lubbock-based Banking Software Firm growing its base of community bank customers.

LUBBOCK, TX November 24, 2008..... eBankSystems Inc., a leading provider of banking software applications and services for community banks, today announced that First National Bank Colorado City has successfully implemented Trinisys as its core processing system. First National Bank also deployed eBank's hosted Internet banking application from Beacon Software and item processing software from eBank's item processing partner, Metavante Image Solutions.

First National Bank Colorado City is a locally owned, locally operated financial institution. First National Bank offers the services of a modern financial institution while maintaining the integrity of an independent community bank where all decisions are made locally. The bank's goal is to provide its customers with the best possible banking experience.

"We have been extremely happy with the service we have received. We were fully involved before, during and after conversion of all plans, milestones and expectations," Janie Davila, Vice President of Information Technology at First National Bank said, "We also really appreciate being able to call eBank and talk to the same people who worked with us during the conversion."

"We are always excited to create a partnership with a community financial institution and enable them to provide their customers with cutting edge technology and services." said Tripp Boren, eBankSystems Vice President of Operations. "First National Bank Colorado City is committed to giving its customers the best possible service. We are very happy to have the opportunity to help them meet their customer service goals."
